

About Ian Crawford

Ian Crawford is a composer, conductor and teacher. As a music teacher and Director of Music, Ian has over ten years' experience of creating and growing successful, highly popular changing voice programmes in secondary schools (both single-sex and co-educational settings). Ian has been Musical Director of Cambiata NW, abcd's regional choir for boys whose voices are changing, since 2014. That year, they appeared in the War Horse Prom at the Royal Albert Hall and were subsequently invited to perform at abcd's 2015 International Gala Concert

(RNCM) where they received a standing ovation. A prolific composer and arranger of music for changing voices, Ian's work is published by Oxford University Press in their ground-breaking Emerging Voices series. Two volumes of his arrangements, Changing Voices and Changing Voices Christmas, were published by Novello in 2017. For more information about Ian's music for changing voices, including his latest work, please visit his website: www.redscarfmusic.co.uk